Peer support is more essential than ever

Medicaid is changing

Work requirements and more eligibility checks put people in recovery at risk of losing coverage.

Federal funding is unstable

Abrupt grant cancellations leave providers unsure what they can count on.

Ohio is tightening access

Work requirements by January 2027, and a trigger law tied to federal funding.

Local systems are stretched

Providers are cutting programs, waitlists are growing, and county Boards are absorbing shortfalls.

Peer support fills the gap
Community-based, cost-effective and grounded in lived experience.

Thrive is well positioned
A proven model, a trained peer workforce and established community partnerships.
